Lumberjacks' Axes Spared Michigan's Hartwick Pines

Just a few minutes' drive from the Interstate 75 freeway in northern Michigan's vacationland is a tall, quiet forest with the state's largest remaining stand of virgin northern white pine.

In the cathedral hush of the pine needle carpeted forest, hardly penetrated by the sun, it takes little imagination to hear moccasin-shod Chippewas moving through the pines or the raucous ribaldry of the lumberjacks.

Fortunately, though, the lumberjacks' saws didn't echo through this particular stand of pine that now is the 8,900-acre Hartwick Pines State Park, the largest state park in the lower peninsula.

From 1860 to 1910 the lumbermen traversed northern Michigan with scythe-like strokes, felling the rich forests for lumber to build the city homes, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

They took the logs and left legends and stumps.

Spared though was this 49-acre virgin forest seven miles northeast of Grayling in the upper central section of Michigan and standing tall are centuries-old white pines Michigan's state tree.

Oldest is the Monarch, rising a majestic 155 feet with a circumference of nearly 4 1/2 feet. The Monarch's age is estimated at 300 years and it grows approximately 1/32 of an inch annually.

Nearby is Monarch Junior, 20 feet taller than Monarch but two inches less in diameter. Its age is close to Monarch's. There is also a 109-foot hemlock and a 102-foot oak in the preserve.

An easy, marked, 45-minute footpath through the virgin pines takes visitors back to the days when lumber was king in Michigan.

An interpretive center at the entrance to the pines and the Lumberman's Museum and Chapel in the Pines make the turnoff from the freeway a worthwhile and unusual one, according to the Tourist Council.

Silas Overpack's 10-foot wheels that "modernized" lumbering lead to the museum. Overpack, a Manistee man, made the huge wheels for logging companies from Michigan to Washington.

The wheels enabled lumberjacks to haul the logs to rivers and railroads during the warm weather months. Prior to that, logs were moved out of the forest only during the winter when they could be slid out on ice and snow.

The Lumberjack's Museum depicts camp life with a mess hall, bunkhouse, blacksmith's shop and tools of the times. It was a rowdy, callous-raising time when songs like these were popular:

"I see that you're a logger and not a common bum, for nobody but a logger stirs his coffee with his thumb."

Another was: "He never haved the whiskers from off his horny hide, he drove them in with hammers and chawed them off inside."

In the walk through Hartwick Pines, visitors can see what has grown since the lumbering times and a forest untouched by jacks' axes.

The towering white pines in the mature, old forest form a canopy that shuts out the sun and prevents smaller plants from growing on the forest floor. Branches grow only high on the trunks of the trees where they can get some sunlight.

The young forest, populated with aspen, pine and hemlock, is airy and doesn't inhibit the growth of small, sun-loving plants on the forest floor.

Hartwick Pines was donated to Michigan by Karen B. Hartwick in memory of her husband, Major Edward E. Hartwick, who was killed in World War I.

The park has camping, picnicking and hiking facilities and two lakes plus trout streams nearby.

"Michigan Go Guide" To Feature Crawford

The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce announced that 25 downstate news publications will feature Crawford County in the AAA "Michigan Go Guide" the week of August 10th.

"Chum" Longworth, Manager of the Chamber office, working with Robert C. Boelio, Editorial Assistant of Motor News, has listed points of interest in the county and these areas will be pinpointed with ink sketches on the map of Crawford County, showing their location and best roads or highways to use in traveling to the areas.

The Chamber has also just finished work for the 1969 Summer Mobil Gas Traveler's Guide Book of North Central United States, and the 1969 Summer Guide for the American Express Company.

The Chamber in each instance was asked to supply full information regarding points of interest and primary recreational activity. The decision as to what points of interest will be published rests with the respective publishers of the Guide Books, and the Chamber is not responsible for deletions, etc. Longworth added that whenever responsible outside interests ask for information of this type it is readily given because of the promotional value gained for the Grayling region.

I
KNOW

By Bill Schoor

Ever wonder who's the fastest runner in big league baseball today? Experts say it's Willie Davis. And oddly enough, though Davis is regarded as the fastest runner in baseball, he's never won a stolen base championship.

Here's quite an oddity in baseball. There once was an outfielder named Joe Cooney. Perhaps you remember him. He played in the majors from 1920 to 1944. Well, here's an oddity. In his more than 20 years in the big league he hit only two home runs and the two came on consecutive days. The first of his career came on Aug. 24, 1933 and the second came the next day. He never hit any the day previous to that, or in five years after. It seems unbelievable, but true.

I bet you didn't know. Dayton Tire Company does sell a 2-ply tire. That's all Dayton tires are a help for your safety and protection. A better tire costs less! Strange but true. Bill Scheer, Chevy, and Cadillac is your Crawford County Dayton Dealer.

Thinking Needed

ingressional restraint in the matter of passing a gun-control law is commendable. A major people will probably go along with reasonable. But, no gun-control law can ever pre-empt such as have taken the lives of three of most citizens.

noted West Coast columnist, in commenting on this, says: "Many of those who yell loudest for gun controls are those who know of firearms. . . never shot a predator, never to the joys of upland game shooting and to protect life or property with the aid of a gun. I do not think I am much different in owning and using habits from millions of Americans. . . And like many other Americans, I reserve the right to use those guns to protect me and my family from anyone bent on stealing the former or bringing harm to the latter. Those of us with the moderate view — and I am sure Americans are in my camp — ask for controls."

In the final analysis, an orderly society can enjoy the rule of law, a rule buttressed by the and appropriate punishment of the law, regardless of the alleged merit of his cause. It would make good sense to attach penalties to the use of firearms in commission of a crime. The point would be mission ownership and the challenge of learning well and with care is restricted for millions of citizens who now find enjoyment and satisfaction in this sport.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

August 2, 1945

Big Springs, Texas — Among the young "hell from Heaven" men who won their silver wings today at the Big Springs Bombardier School was one Grayling man who graduated with Class 215 and received his appointment as a flying officer in the Army Air Forces. Flight Officer Everett Bidvia is the son of Herman Bidvia of Grayling. He was a former student of Central Michigan College, Mt. Pleasant.

Pope Field, N.C. — Tech. Sgt. LeRoy R. Babbitt, son of Mrs. Howard Bunker is one of six men from Michigan localities who are members of the famed 316th Troop Carrier group now stationed at this base of the First Troop Carrier Command after two and a half years overseas. The group, which came back to the States as a unit immediately after VE-Day is a veteran of nine major campaigns from El Alamein to central Germany and is credited with spearheading the invasion of Normandy on D-Day.

James H. Tinker, Seaman First Class, USNR, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tinker of 206 Park Street, Grayling, Michigan, who served on an attack troop transport during the occupation of the Marshall Islands and Philippine Islands, has arrived at the world's largest naval receiving station at Shomaker, Calif., a unit of the U.S. Naval Training and Distribution Center, for reclassification and further assignment.

Sgt. Donald Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Peterson is now home for good after receiving his honorable discharge on July 12 at Fort Ord, Calif. Don enlisted with the Ionia Company of the Red Arrow Division on October 12, 1940 and so has spent nearly five years in Uncle Sam's service. His overseas service was spent in the Southwest Pacific.

T/S Stephen "Bud" Jorgenson is spending a 30 day furlough visiting his wife and children, Stephen Jr., and Robert. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mathewson, also live in Grayling. Bud is recently returned from the European Theater of War, having been in England, France, Luxembourg, Austria and Germany. He wears the ETO Ribbon with two bronze stars. At the termination of his furlough Bud is to report to Camp Grant to be redeployed.

Sgt. Jack McClain left Monday evening for Midland, Texas after spending a 15-day furlough with his wife and son, Michael. Jack's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McClain also reside in Grayling.

Mrs. Frank Serven and Mrs. John Mallinger returned Friday evening from East Lansing, where they had been sent as representatives of the Home Extension Groups of Crawford County to the Home Economics Extension Conference at MSC.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gokey and children and S/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Gokey have been spending their vacation near Grayling and also visiting the men's grandmother, Mrs. E. A. Jennings of this city. They were residents here 25 years ago, leaving Grayling when they were small boys. Robert is just returned from the European Theater of War having served in both France and Germany. James, while here caught a 25 pound pike at Chub Lake and believe it or not on a fly rod. This is no fish story as he stopped in at the Avalanche Office en route to his home in Bay City and we saw the fish our selves and it was some fish.

Melvin Nelson son of the Otto Nelsons of Lansing former Grayling residents is spending some time here. He is recently returned from the European Theater of War.

Community College in The Truest Sense

Members of the community are actively supporting Kirtland Community College's quest for donations of equipment, books, etc., as opening day, October 1, rapidly approaches.

President Lloyd H. Van Buskirk recently stated that a full two year scholarship for a student involved in the vocational and technical area of study had been established by Mr. and Mrs. Otto Krauss of Higgins Lake. Additionally, Mr. and Mrs. Krauss have donated from their private library numerous technical books, which were gratefully accepted by the College's Head Librarian, William E. Studwell.

Dr. Lawrence Quill of Michigan State University has strengthened our technical library considerably with the contribution of publications and pamphlets in the physical sciences which are impossible to replace today. These quality publications will add immeasurable depth to the already strong technical library at Kirtland Community College.

Miss Elsie Jorgenson, who is employed as stenographer in the offices of Whittemore, Hurlburt, Whittemore and Beknap, patent lawyers of Detroit, is spending a fortnight visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jorgenson. She arrived Sunday.

Delbert Case For Sheriff

What should a modern day sheriff be doing for you?

In this day and age many people feel the primary responsibilities of a sheriff are attending the jail and issuing driving licenses. The sheriff, however, has considerable authority and responsibilities to extend himself beyond these limited duties. Some of the major areas are: Immediate effective physical protection for you and your family against bodily harm or abuse at any time of the day or night, any necessary protection to you as a citizen against any injustice, abuse or harassment regardless of your status in life or the source of the abuse or injustice, to assist in keeping your community free of corruption, graft and that law and justice is abided by in many other respects.

For a sheriff to stand up to these responsibilities and be capable of providing above requires a great deal of dedication, integrity and courage, and often in the face of applied political pressure.

It is a matter of history that Mr. Case will stand up for his convictions of what is right and wrong — often at a considerable personal sacrifice. A large share of his life has been devoted to helping the underdog when help is needed, regardless of the odds.

Unfortunately it seems today that these type of qualities are becoming increasingly rare, and that the convenience of taking the path of the least resistance is predominating. When at the same time present day conditions demanding this type of protection is becoming increasingly important to the average family who sometimes finds it more difficult to physically or financially defend and protect themselves and their rights.

If elected as Sheriff, Mr. Case would dedicate himself to fulfilling the true, full obligations of Sheriff and the duties of this important office in the manner in which they should be fulfilled.

Thank You

the fundamental law of the state," Judge Kraus said, "any changes in it are really more important matters for the voters to consider than individual candidates. In addition constitutional issues require even more careful study than the personal qualifications of candidates, to be voted on intelligently."

Judge Kraus said that as a jurist he favored a "Yes" vote on the first and third constitutional amendment proposals, which deal with judicial procedure in Michigan.

"Proposal Number One would permit the State Supreme Court to discipline incapable or incompetent judges, on the recommendation of a new judicial tenure commission," he said. "I think this proposal protects the public interest better than the current procedure, which is involved and cumbersome."

"Proposal Number Three would permit the Governor to fill vacancies in certain courts by appointment. This is a speedier way of assuring continuity of court service than the present method, which requires the Supreme Court to find a retired judge who is willing to give up his well-earned retirement in act as a temporary replacement until the next election."

Judge Kraus said Proposal Number Two shifts the responsibility for determining certain state legislative, executive and judicial salaries from the State Legislature to a commission to be appointed by the Governor. He said the key issue for voters to decide is whether they believe the State Legislature would be more objective in setting its own pay and that of certain other office holders than a special commission.

Judge Kraus, who served as Probate Judge of Crawford

County since January 1, 1965, has been a member of the Michigan bar since his graduation from the University of Michigan law school in 1941.

After graduation he saw four years of service with the U.S. Coast Guard during World War II, including a tour of duty as executive officer of a cutter on Caribbean anti-submarine patrol. In 1946 Judge Kraus joined the Commonwealth Casualty Company, a Detroit insurance firm, becoming vice president and eventually president before leaving the company to re-settle in Crawford County in 1963.

In 1948 he also assumed ownership and took over the management of a retail business in Grayling, commuting by car between his business responsibilities in Detroit and Crawford County. He currently operates three retail businesses in Grayling, maintains a private law practice, and serves as probate judge. In addition he has been a director of the Grayling State Bank since 1962. If elected District Judge, he would be required by law — as would all candidates — to resign all other public and private legal and judicial responsibilities.

Judge Kraus was born in Grayling on April 12, 1917, the son of Emil Kraus Sr., a native of Detroit who entered the retail business in Grayling in 1899, and the former Leone Lennon of Appleton, Wis., who served as a teacher in Grayling from 1913 until her marriage to the elder Mr. Kraus in 1916.

Judge Kraus was graduated from Grayling High School in 1934, and earned a Bachelor of Philosophy degree from the University of Detroit in 1938 before beginning the study of law. He is a widower with two daughters, and resides in Grayling.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:
I was rewarded recently by a copy of your newspaper presented by retired Probate Judge Francis Barron, of Livingston County, who is summering on the North Branch of the AuSable near Lovells.

Judge Barron is a resident of Howell.

Your newspaper contained an excellent AuSable anthology, which contained an accurate duplication of a story I wrote about Reub Babbitt — pioneer AuSable guide and conservation officer. The story appeared in the early 1940s in The Detroit News, of which I was outdoors editor at the time.

It was loaned to you by Wilson Clerke, whom I thank for continuing my journalistic name in a community I visited often — and with great profit and enjoyment.

The story was an inadequate tribute to a noble man — truly a symbol of the North Woods, and a fervent apostle of the glories of the AuSable, before the unhappy incursions of unbridled civilization.

The AuSable remains as Michigan's greatest trout area, and is famed in history as such.

We met Reub in 1919 and composed a feature story about him and the AuSable grayling, which appeared in the magazine section of the News.

We met him later at the educational display of the conservation department at the Michigan State Fair in Detroit, where he was a man.

His memory is saddened by his tragic death.

We entertain hallowed memories of Grayling, and did pieces on the Hartwick corks, truly a Michigan shrine. We covered the first winter festival there in the 1930s.

Our hosts were the Cassidys at Hotel Shoppenagons, whom I knew very well, the proprietors plus Bill and Hazel. An especial friend was T. Hanson, of the Hanson - Sallings Lumber Co., who regaled us with stories of the San Francisco earthquake and fire, where he performed a notable rescue work.

Chief Shoppenagons was a groggy, and a sober Indian, who became entangled with alcoholic beverages on only one occasion — that being when the hotel burned.

We knew very well Oscar Schumann, then editor of your paper, and Hans Peterson, of the Grayling fish hatchery, who aided us splendidly in the release of fish for photographic purposes.

Yes, when cameras exposure was done, we always threw them back into the stream, a condition imposed by Hans.

Grayling is somewhat unique in that it became a haven for immigrant Danes, who swarmed into Grayling to work as hardy lumberjacks for Hanson-Sallings.

Also for Louie Sands, a Danish operator on the Big Manistee.

The Danes rate supreme among the finest people in America, and Grayling is indebted to them for their great contribution to progress.

(After having been a reporter 42 years with The Detroit News, I have been around a bit, and to use a trite phrase, "know my onions.")

Dear Sir:

I wish to express my appreciation for the delightful manner in which the town of Grayling welcomed the junior high school drill team that the 107th Armored Cavalry Regiment from Ohio brought to camp with them last month. These boys from the inner city of Cleveland found their experiences around Grayling much more broadening than we had hoped. In particular, we thank Rev. Brook Patterson for his leadership in the Kiwanis Club for their support, Fred Bear for his generosity with the boys at his museum, and the boys' school for the use of their bus.

Sincerely yours,
John W. Simons

Too seldom is recognition given to our business people who take the time, money, and effort to enhance our community, to improve their places of business, and to give Grayling a new look.

So, let's applaud the efforts of the Slusers of Grayling Radio & TV for the new paint job; the Charles Longs for a fine exterior remodeling job on the Weaver Gift Shop building; The American Legion for a new exterior and a beautiful new cocktail lounge; the Qualls for extensive interior work in Spikes Keg O' Nails; the LaGrows for a real fine new look in Bill's Laundry & Dry Cleaning; the Nielsons of the Grayling Insurance Agency for a completely new interior; the new office and business complex of the Packard Electric Company; the new offices of the Cornell Real Estate Company; the exterior remodeling by the Dessos of the Arrowhead Inn; the office remodeling by the Bradys of Marshall's Motel; Bud Hunter's new abstract office, the new units and swimming pool done by the Molnars of the Grayling Colonial Motel; the Woods and Elseys of Grayling Pharmacy on their interior decorating; to Bill Joseph of Grayling Mercantile for the fine new display area in the lower level of the store; to Mildred Chew, Realtor, for her fine new office building; and Curly LaMotte of Curly's Drive In for their new facilities.

These improvements make our community a better place to live and give us a sense of pride as part of the community.

Also, we of the Chamber are aware of the visual aspect of the flowers on I-75 Business Loop. It is mentioned time and again by visitors to the Chamber office. The City of Grayling, volunteer planters, and contributors to the "Petunia Fund" should not go unmentioned.

STAY IN THE HOME FOR WEEKS.

Dear Sir:
From June 28th through July 13th our motion picture crew was in the Grayling area photographing a documentary film on the AuSable River to be released next year by Consumers Power Company. This half-hour film will be shown on television and will be available to schools and club groups.

We would like to express our grateful appreciation to the many people of your community who assisted us and gave freely of their time and talents. Among them were:

Earl "Chum" Longworth for helping us make contacts and arrangements, and who demonstrated how to thread through a canoe traffic jam in an AuSable boat.

Dr. Len Allison, Gary Schinick, Don Simmons, and Russ Lincoln and their Conservation Department staff for getting their trout to perform on cue for the camera, and for their help on photography of many important Conservation Department activities.

Zoe and Mike Lupka for making us feel at home at the Canoe Inn and for pitching in to help over many emergencies.

Ken Carlisle for bringing out Boy Scouts to do an extra river clean up for the cameras. And Mrs. Carlisle for providing us with props.

Lon, Marg, and Mark Qualls for taking two days out of their lives to perform as our "canoe family."

Jack and Aggie Trudgeon for arranging a canoe party when we needed help.

Bernie and Pat Fowler for help in arrangements and use of their facilities for production.

The Jim Wakeleys for helping with arrangements and Dave Wyss at Wakeleys who walked our trout to keep them happy between scenes.

Mrs. Rex McMillen who loaned us the Babbitt family picture collection.

Otto Failing for playing a part in the film and for his point of view on the future of the river.

Wendell Hoover, Lacey Stephan, and their Conservation Department associates at Hartwick Pines for helping us get important scenes. And to two-year old Allison Hoover for showing how not to be a litter-bug.

Derek McEvers and all the members of the Watershed Council who all turned out on a busy day to help on an important sequence.

Dr. Hazen Miller for his valuable information on AuSable River history. For helping us find pictures and for his helpful comments on the script.

The members of Trout Unlimited who helped us with trout fishing scenes.

Mrs. Cynthia Stephan Knecht for sharing her family's historical pictures.

Jack Millikin and Bear Archery for land clearing scenes.

The Crawford County Sheriff's Department and Larry Yoder for participation in river patrol scenes; the Gerald Burns family for portraying "a family of litter bugs."

The canoe liveries — Ray's, Jolly Redskin, Penrod's, Carr's, Carlisle's and Borchers — for canoeing scenes.

There were also many people who wandered into our film because they just happened to be there when the cameras were rolling. We thank them all for their spontaneous cooperation.

On behalf of the members of our film crew I thank the citizens of Grayling for making our stay in your area pleasant and productive.

Sincerely,
William Murray

New Snowmobile Club Formed in Grayling

Grayling Trailmaster Snowmobile Club was the name chosen at a meeting Thursday evening at the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce Office.

Fourteen snowmobile enthusiasts met on the hot and humid July evening to formulate plans for an active snowmobile club and to hear the Chamber's plans for winter activity during 1959.

Chosen as president of the newly formed club was D.L. Riddle; John Stampf was elected vice president; and secretary treasurer will be Duane Brooks.

A discussion was had by the group as a whole regarding participation in the community's winter activities, dues structure, membership cards, and patches.

The next meeting of the Grayling Trailmasters will be held at the Chamber Office at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, August 8.

Hancock Industries Start The Ball Rolling

Meetings were held recently at the Hancock Industries Plant in Roscommon to work out the many details of Kirtland Community College's Apprenticeship Training Program.

Howard Gentry and Robert Hagan represented Hancock Industries at the meeting with Joseph Pietryga acting on behalf of the Department of Labor (Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training). Dean Wayne F. Krueger and Dean Edward P. Harkins represented Kirtland Community College in these very fruitful discussions.

It was agreed Kirtland Community College will provide instruction related to the new and exciting apprenticeship programs which Messrs. Hagan and Gentry are creating at Hancock. The highly skilled areas of instruction include: Tool and Die; Drafting; Industrial Electricity; and Hydraulics and Welding. It is anticipated that Hancock will begin their apprenticeship program this fall.

One of the major purposes of the meeting was to establish duties and areas of responsibility for all participants in the program. As a result, it was mutually agreed that Kirtland Community College is to provide ed to the various programs. Hancock's responsibility will be to provide the manipulative skills, and the State Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training is responsible for establishing the Rules and Regulations requested by the United States Government.

Anyone wishing any information about the college's involvement in the programs should contact Wayne Krueger, Dean of Occupational Studies at the temporary Kirtland Community College office in Roscommon.

Bits O' Talk

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lovely attended the 60th annual convention of the State Association of County Clerks held at Marquette July 21 through 24. The assembly heard talks by a state election department representative, by Donald T. Strong of Doubleday Bros. of Kalamazoo, a talk on the new county government bookkeeping system by A. L. West of the Treasury Department from Lansing, a talk on records of vital statistics by Arthur Taylor of the Michigan Department of Health, and a discussion on the new district court bill by D. Hale Brake of the Michigan Association of Supervisors. Word was spread that Earl Lynn, of Branch County, who has been a county clerk for 46 years, and Louella Smith of Washtenaw County, who has served for 42 years, would not be running for office again this year.

Last week, Mr. and Mrs. Everson Williams visited his sister in Appleton, Wis.

The Dick Hamlin attended the Legion convention in Lansing last week and on the way home they saw Mrs. Hamlin's son, Richard Smith, leave from Tri-City Airport on his way back to his Navy base at Alameda, Calif. He leaves Friday to be on his ship, the Coral Sea.

Applications for membership will be accepted and all persons joining at this time will be considered charter members.

Trucking Is Big Business In Crawford

A half-million trucks, all types and sizes, serve Michigan's 8 1/2 million people daily.

This is one of many facts presented in the 24-page booklet, Truck Transportation in Michigan, an industry fact book published by Michigan Trucking Association.

In Crawford County, there are 599 trucks registered. The number of persons whose employment is directly related to motor truck transportation in Crawford County is 395. Their annual earnings were $2,745,250.

There is a section devoted to the truck portion of monies distributed and expended for Michigan highways, by counties.

For instance, in Crawford County, truck taxes distributed to local governments during fiscal 1967 totaled $119,659. This plus the state and federal funds expended by the Michigan Department of State Highways brings the truck portion of total monies distributed and expended in our county to $298,217.

Voice of the People

Dear Editor:

The people of the State of Michigan have been very concerned about Wayne County controlling the rest of the State according to one man — one vote rule.

What is Crawford County now doing? According to population and electors our new Board of Supervisors will more than likely be from the City of Grayling. Why wasn't the apportionment plan for the County which was published in the Avalanche many months ago put into effect? At least then we could have voted on our own representative from our own district.

Isn't this the same principle? The representatives from the City with interests for the City will be governing our outlying townships? This in my opinion is definitely wrong.

Where are our individual rights going? If we lose local representation and local government, how long will it be before County government goes down the drain?

The way I see it, for the Townships to have any representation on the County Board of Supervisors is to band together and vote for four men from the outlying Townships.

Few Changes In Small Game Hunting Rules

LANSING — Seasons, bag limits, and general regulations for hunting small game in Michigan this year were established by the Conservation Commission at its July 11-12 meeting at Higgins Lake.

Generally, the pattern follows last year's with these exceptions: The ruffed grouse season will open Sept. 15 (same as woodcock) in the Upper and Northern Lower Peninsulas and will close Nov. 14.

Opening day for the pheasant season in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula will be Oct. 21, instead of the 20th, to avoid a Sunday opener.

Ingham was added to the quail hunting counties of Branch, Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawee, Livingston, Monroe, St. Joseph, Washtenaw, and Wayne.

Wild turkey permits were increased by 200 over last year's total of 1,300, with hunting again in the Mio and Baldwin areas.

Sharptailed grouse will be hunted on the same basis as last year, with the season limited to Oct. 1-14 in Ontonagon County.

Opening day for squirrels and raccoons will be October 21.

Federal regulations, to be set later, will establish seasons and bag limits for rails, gallinules and snipe. The woodcock season opens Sept. 15 in the Upper and Northern Lower Peninsulas and Oct. 21 in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula. Woodcock hunters are reminded that their shotguns must be limited to not more than three shells in the barrel and magazine combined.

Detailed regulations for all small game hunting will be included in a folder, "Rules for Hunting Small Game in Michigan." Hunters will receive copies with their hunting licenses.

NELSON G. TISDALE
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Over the past two years, your Legislature has built a record of accomplishments I would match with any other Legislature in State history — but there are still tremendous challenges awaiting us in the future.

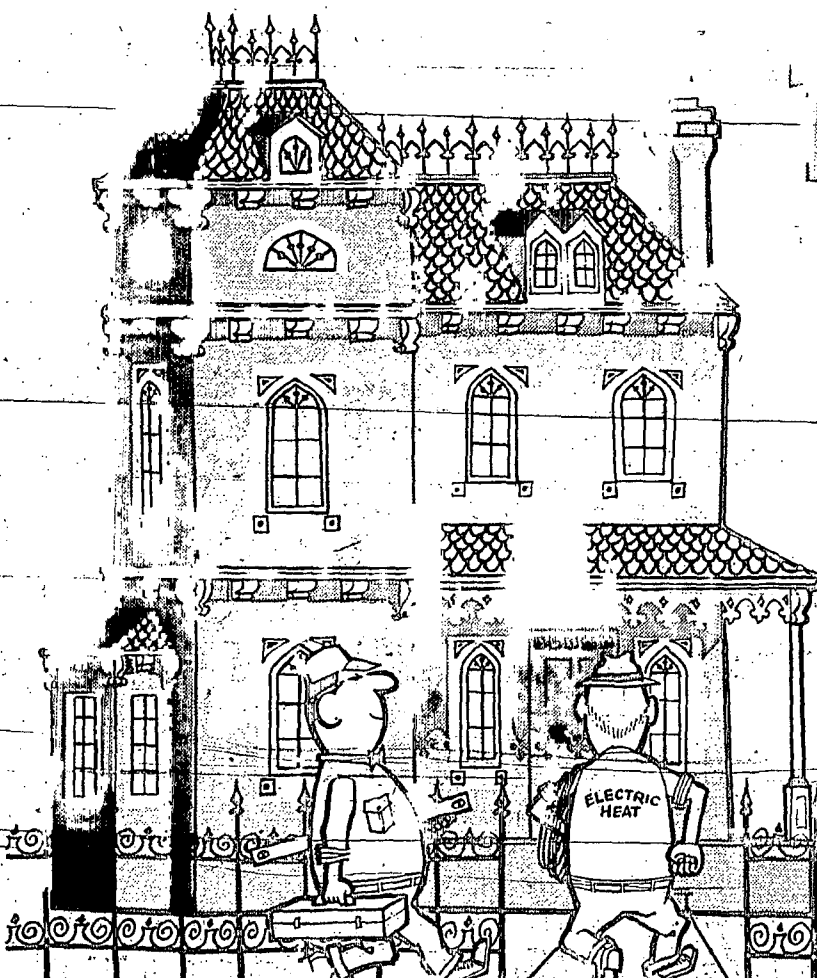

Serious problems confront us in pollution, mass transportation, more effective law enforcement, adequate funding of all education facilities and providing for stronger local governments. Above all, there is a great challenge to provide greater equity in taxation.

I believe the key issue for the coming years is Property Tax Reform. Our present system has become burdensome and oppressive for urban and rural property owners alike.

A study now going on is aimed at finding new ways to finance education, taking the pressure off the local millage system. Recommendations are due to be reported to the Legislature next year and I intend to work for passage of a more workable and equitable plan. A thorough revision of our general property tax laws is essential. This is especially critical for the small farmer.

The many problems facing our state and district are so critical that they demand experienced legislators to find effective solutions. I ask your support in continuing experienced representation for the 103rd District.

A Letter to My Fellow Citizens...

July 1968

Fellow Citizens
Crawford County

Dear Folks:

I WANT TO BE YOUR SHERIFF.

Since I won't be able to contact many of you personally before the primary election on August 6, 1968 I am taking this means to ask for your support.

As you may know, I am offering myself as candidate for the office of Sheriff in Crawford County on the Republican ticket.

Crawford County has been my home for the past 36 years except for the four years I spent in the Army during World War II. I attained the rank of Sergeant while in the service. I received my honorable discharge at the termination of my enlistment.

My law enforcement experience includes 16 years of service as police officer for the City of Grayling. Fifteen of these years I have been Chief of Police. I have also served as Deputy Sheriff.

If you should honor me with the nomination and election to the Office of Sheriff I will endeavor to give the very best service I can. I feel the Office of Sheriff should reflect good credit to the people of Crawford County. We will soon have a fine new facility in our county. I hope you will elect me to help run and maintain it for you. Together we can make Crawford County one of the most respected areas of Michigan in the law enforcement field.

I ask your support and help! It will be received with thanks and appreciation.

Very truly yours,

HAROLD HATFIELD Jr.
Candidate for Sheriff

Poor Votes

There is the old phrase about saving the wind and reaping whirlwind.

The truth of this adage is perhaps well illustrated by the so-called race problem now existing in this nation.

And those who have created the whirlwind are the irresponsible politicians who in hunger for votes have promised minorities the moon and aroused expectations far beyond possibility of fulfillment.

There are certain basic rights guaranteed by the Constitution to all Americans, regardless of race, color or creed. These rights have now been re-affirmed, but still there is rioting.

And perhaps the most interesting part of the entire mess is that no sooner had so-called civil rights legislation been passed than the noisier adherents of these measures threatened to be poor and the civil rights of the strong anti-Vietnam complex of the movement.

There is probably some justification for demanding an end to Vietnam. And assuredly the American foreign policy is quite an enigma.

But on the other hand, the credentials of those who pour into Washington as part of a March of the Poor to make decisions on foreign policy seem open to question.

For after all, it can perhaps be assumed if they have the intellect and ability to decide on such complex problems of America.

erican relationship to the world, that same intellect and ability should have somehow lifted them out of their life of poverty in their own hometown.

There are ways of helping the poor. The nation's independent businessmen, acting through the National Federation of Independent Business, support several bills languishing in the Congress which would be quite remedial.

But they are opposed by many politicians who do not like to see such legislation at the tax incentive plan for development by Congressmen Joe Ewins, Tennessee, or the plowback allowance by Congressman James Corman, California, passed.

The big objection to action in these areas is that they would provide employment opportunities for those who do not want to be poor and the civil rights of the strong anti-Vietnam complex of the movement.

And in addition it should perhaps not be overlooked that there are many wealthy city property owners who would like to see all taxpayers shaken down under the guise of helping the poor.

They would be quite enchanted to get big movement subsidies to aid them in improving their properties. They too weep for the poor and will continue to do so until such times as they, too, can get a chunk of the taxpayer's money.

Duckweed reproduces rapidly by division of parent plants, which makes control difficult.

Herbicides will control duckweed if applied early in the growing season when the affected areas are small, but it may be treated at any time of the year.

The duckweed on the water and wet pond margins should be thoroughly and directly covered by fine spray. Aquathol, Diquat, Hydrothol 47 and Hydrothol 101 are recommended as a spray concentration of one cup per four gallons of water. The restrictions on the label should be read and carefully observed.

If water empties into a natural watershed a permit from Michigan Department of Conservation is required before using any herbicides.

HUBER

83rd DISTRICT

(Roscommon and Crawford Counties)

ROBERT KENT HUBER, age 30, Roscommon attorney, an eleven-year resident of Roscommon County, has served in the U.S. Navy, obtained his B.A. degree in Economics from Michigan State University and his Juris Doctorate Degree from the Detroit College of Law.

He is a member of the Michigan Bar Association, American Bar Association, Roscommon Rotary Club, Masonic Lodge No. 364, and Congregational Church of Roscommon. He is presently serving as District Finance Chairman of the Paul Bunyan Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

He is married to the former Lenora Bertl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Bertl of Roscommon. Mrs. Huber is a first grade teacher at the Gerrish-Higgins Elementary School.

This newly created Judgeship which replaces the present Justice of the Peace System will require the full time of an attorney. The statute does not allow him to engage in a private law practice during his tenure. I am prepared to serve accordingly.

ROBERT KENT HUBER is a strong believer in vigorous law enforcement. He believes, as one of our greatest statesmen once said, that "No man is above the law, and no man is below it" and that only a lawful society can build a better society.

HUBER is an experienced businessman and attorney — he has the necessary youth and energy, experience and qualifications for establishing and administering this new 83rd District Court System composed of Roscommon and Crawford Counties.

It's Time for a Change!

YOU DO HAVE A CHOICE

An opportunity exists to choose in the August 6, 1968 Primary Election who will best serve and represent the people of Crawford County in the office of Prosecutor. You do have a choice! Now it's up to you!

WELL QUALIFIED

I am a Licensed Attorney in the State of Michigan and a member of the American Bar Association. I have recently completed a survey of important United States Supreme Court decisions in regard to criminal prosecution. I am also a member of the Criminal Law Division of the American Bar Association and a former bonded insurance investigator. My name is Bruce B. Benson. With your support I will be Bruce B. Benson, Prosecutor

NEW APPROACH

Recent Supreme Court decisions have forced law enforcement agencies to adopt new and modern methods to effectively deal with increasing crime. With your support, we can discard tired, worn out, and ineffective methods and bring new vitality and a fresh new approach to increase the effectiveness of the Prosecutor's Office in combating crime.

YOUR VOTE WILL COUNT

Only citizens who do vote have the moral right to criticize their government. And remember, good Federal and State government starts at the local level of county government. Your vote means a lot and will count.

AN INVITATION

Since I haven't had the opportunity to meet all of you personally, I hope this message will serve as an invitation to visit my campaign headquarters and office at 202 Huron Street in Grayling. The coffee pot will be on, of course.

Yours for Better County Government
